

Table of Contents

Table of Contents	i	Chapter 1:	1
Acknowledgments	vi	'If You Don't Have Health, What's the Use of Living?'—Koori Voices from the Goulburn–Murray Rivers Region on Health and its Determinants
Glossary	vii	Acknowledgments	1
Introduction	x	Introduction	2
Social determinants of health and wellbeing	x	Setting	3
History of social determinants approach to health	xi	Methods	4
Current attention to the social determinants of health	xii	Findings	5
The process of compiling this monograph	xiii	Discussion	11
The contents	xiii	Policy implications and conclusions	13
Call for action	xv	References	14
References	xvi	Appendix	16
		Chapter 2:	19
		Indigenous Insights into Oral History, Social Determinants and Decolonisation
		Introduction	19
		Rationale	19
		Australian Indigenous oral history	20
		Social determinants of Indigenous health	20
		Methods	21
		Identification of oral histories	22
		Results	22
		Discussion	33
		Conclusion	34
		References	35

Chapter 3:	37	Chapter 5:	77
Education as a Determinant of Indigenous Health		Aboriginality, Poverty and Health—Exploring the Connections
Introduction	37	Introduction	77
The research evidence	38	Measuring and defining Aboriginal poverty	78
Indigenous health leadership views	43	Dimensions of poverty versus measuring poverty	80
Towards a model of the education–health relationship	45	The domain of Aboriginality and Aboriginal poverty	81
Research and development priorities	50	Aboriginal poverty as a causal factor in Aboriginal health	82
References	53	Discussion: Advancing the research agenda	86
		Conclusion	87
		References	88
Chapter 4:	56	Chapter 6:	91
You Can't Have One without the Other—Transactions between Education and Wellbeing for Indigenous Peoples		Labour Force Participation as a Determinant of Indigenous Health
Introduction	56	Introduction	91
Enduring expectations	58	Labour force participation of Indigenous Australians: Context	92
The statistics	58	Health and labour force status	95
Health as wellbeing	59	The experience of Indigenous Australians at work	98
A transactional model of relationships	60	Conclusion and recommendations	101
Prior research on the education–wellbeing relationship	61	References	101
Contemporary perspectives on learning and teaching	63
Sites for educational intervention	66
Educational effects at the inner level	67
Educational effects at the middle level	69
Educational effects at the outer level	70
Summary and conclusion	72	Chapter 7:	104
References	73	Framework for Research on Aboriginal Health and the Physical Environment
		Executive summary	104
		Background	105
		Methods	106
		Findings	108
		Discussion	111
		Conclusion	115
		References	116

Chapter 8: 136

Social and Emotional Wellbeing of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander People within the Broader Context of the Social Determinants of Health

Introduction	136
The social determinants framework of health	138
Social and emotional wellbeing	139
Measuring and assessing social and emotional wellbeing	145
Towards a research agenda in social and emotional wellbeing	147
References	149

Chapter 9: 165

Community Development and Empowerment—A Review of Interventions to Improve Aboriginal Health

Abstract	165
Social determinants of health and community development theory	166
Methodology	168
Discussion	168
Conclusion	176
References	177

Chapter 10: 181

Governance, Indigenous and Non-Indigenous, as a Social Determinant of Aboriginal Health

Introduction	181
Aboriginal political life and custom	182
Aboriginal organisations	183
Non-Indigenous organisational culture	185
Approaches to organisational culture	186
Whole-of-government coordination of service delivery	188
Conclusion	189
References	190

Chapter 11: 191

Social Capital and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health—Problems and Possibilities

Introduction	191
Theorising social capital	192
Measuring social capital	194
Social capital in public health practice	197
What we already know about social capital in Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Australia	199
Implications for the development of an Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander social capital research agenda	200
References	201

Chapter 12: 208

Law as a Determinant of Indigenous Health—Some Constitutional Issues

Introduction	208
The preamble and a case for change	209
A case for 'positive' rights	211
Regional Indigenous autonomy	213
Autonomy as a constitutional arrangement—treaty arrangements	215
Exploring the value of constitutional reforms—here and overseas	216
References	218
Table of Cases	220

Chapter 13: 221

Healthy Change at the Micro-Level—Victoria's Koori Courts

Introduction	221
The Koori Court	222
Two case studies	224
Is the Koori Court good for health?	226
References	227

Chapter 14:	229	Chapter 16:	255
The Meaning of Culture within Public Health Practice—Implications for the Study of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health		Culture in Health Research and Practice
Introduction	229	Introduction	255
Method	230	Health systems as cultural domains	256
Culture as biology	231	Racist attitudes within health services	258
Culture as a label	232	Socio-cultural factors that inhibit the development of healthy behaviours and successful participation in healthcare delivery	262
Culture as behaviours	232	Ways to work with ‘culture’ to contribute to improved Indigenous health outcomes	266
Culture as ideology	233	Appendix	271
Culture as a surrogate	234	References	271
Culture as cure	234
Conclusion	235
References	236
Chapter 15:	239	Conclusion	281
Culture as a Determinant of Aboriginal Health		Social determinants within the National Strategic Framework for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health
Introduction	239	Research and Indigenous health	284
Culture	240	The social determinants of Indigenous health in a global context	285
The uses of culture in Aboriginal health research	242	References	288
Culture and methodology	246
Paths forward	248
Concluding remarks	251
References	251

Tables, Diagrams and Figures

Introduction	FIGURE 1:	Respiratory tuberculosis—mean annual death rates (standardised to 1901 population, England and Wales)	XI
Chapter 1	TABLE 1:	Health issues and their causes as reported by participants	6
	FIGURE 1:	Conceptualising the Aboriginal experience of health	12
Chapter 2	TABLE 1:	Social determinants of health identified by WHO and their relationship to literature on Indigenous social determinants of health	21
	TABLE 2:	Colonisation and decolonisation social determinants of health present and not present in literature on Indigenous social determinants	23
Chapter 3	TABLE 1:	History, health and education	48
	TABLE 2:	A simplified model of inequality in educational investment	51
	DIAGRAM 1:	Control factor—The missing link?	46
	DIAGRAM 2:	The biology of power	47
	DIAGRAM 3:	Biological pathways	47
Chapter 4	DIAGRAM 4:	Education and culture	49
	DIAGRAM 5:	The cycle of despair and how it is broken	50
Chapter 5	FIGURE 1:	A transactional model of relationships impacting upon Indigenous peoples' wellbeing	61
	FIGURE 2:	Sites for action and a model for research and data analysis	67
Chapter 6	TABLE 1:	Socio-economic indicators: Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal populations	79
Chapter 7	TABLE 1:	Health and disability by labour force status 2002	97
	TABLE 2:	Health and disability by income quintile 2002	98
	TABLE 3:	Labour force status by income quintile 2002	99
	TABLE 4:	Characteristics of Indigenous Australians by remoteness 2002	99
Chapter 9	TABLE 1:	Survey response by type of organisation	109
	TABLE 2:	Current research activities reported by CRAH partner organisations	110
	TABLE 3:	Framework for research on Aboriginal health and the physical environment	114
	FIGURE 1:	Health Improvement Framework	115
Chapter 14	TABLE 1:	Authors and title of reviewed papers	169
Chapter 14	FIGURE 1:	Applications of 'culture' within Indigenous public health and medical journal articles 1994–2004	231